Dear Ted Corespondent

Applicant Baker vs Respondent Baker

The decree absolute has been made and the divorce is now complete. Attached is a copy of the decree absolute certificate.

Since 27th April 2015, orders issued by the Family Courts in England and Wales have borne an electronic image of the single family court seal. This applies to all family court orders, which include the final decree absolute/orders issued on the dissolution of a marriage or civil partnership. Therefore, such orders are legitimate orders of the family court and they should not be refused based on the presence of an electronic image.

Yours sincerely
